Madison police and fire chiefs notified City shake-up planned

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

Madison's police and fire chiefs will not be reappointed, according to Madison Mayor-elect John Bellico. Others are also expected to be denied reappointment.

Madison Police Chief Don Bridick reportedly received the written news Tuesday that he will not be reappointed as chief after Bellico is sworn in as mayor May 7.

Bellico said he talked with Bridick on Monday and Bridick requested the notice be given in letter form.

THE LETTER SAID. "Pursuant to our conversation on Monday, he advised I do not intend to reappoint you as chief of police after I am sworn in at Tuesday night's council meeting. However, you have the right to return to duty on the police force as a patrolman."

Bellico said he informed Michael Macek after the April 23 council meeting Macek will not be reappointed as fire chief and city alarm system director.

Other changes in the city administration will be announced Tuesday night, Bellico said. He will succeed Thomas Gordon, acting mayor, whom Bellico defeated in the April 2 municipal election.

MACEK SAID this week he has not received a written notice he will not be reappointed.

"I will continue in my present capacity and keep doing my job until I am notified in writing that I will be replaced," he said.

Bridick said Wednesday that, prior to the election, he met with Bellico and felt he had been assured there would be "no changes made" after the election.

The police chief quoted Bellico as promising in the presence of three other people that there would be no job changes.

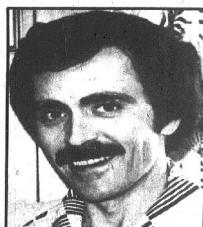

"THIS SAME STATEMENT relating to no changes in job placement was made by Bellico in a letter to the (Press-Record's) "The Truth in the Dec. 10 issue of the newspaper," the police chief added.

The letter contained no specific reference to "no job changes," however. Candidate Bellico said, "I have no intentions of doing any mass firings." He pledged any city employees fired by others for aiding him (Bellico) would be rehired "after my election."

Bridick said he has enjoyed eight years as chief of police and believes that Madison "is a good, safe community" where people have nothing to fear in regard to crime.

"You can lock out thieves but you can't lock out liars," he said.

"MY PERSONAL OPINION is

that John wanted to become mayor so bad he used everybody in Madison to win the election and now he is changing what he said," Bridick said.

Bridick was appointed chief of police by Mayor Mike Sasyk on May 1, 1977. Gordon was named acting mayor after Sasyk retired by resigning in January 1985.

The chief said he does not have any plans for the future at this time. He is associated with various businesses and also has been mentioned in speculation about a future

MIKE MACEK

Madison County elective officer.

POINTING OUT that he has the right to remain a member of the police department, Bridick said he is not yet ready to say whether he would accept return to patrolman status.

Bellico read to a news writer the letter he sent to Bridick.

He said he prefers not to give further comment on the topic at this time but will speak out in more detail on the new administrative staff after he has been sworn in as mayor.

Fumes worry Venice public

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

Noxious fumes were evident when Venice police officers and firefighters were sent at 7:15 p.m. Monday to an area said to be on property of the Belson Recycling firm at the south end of Washington Avenue near Race Street. No residential evacuation was necessary, and the fumes were gone by the next day.

An old tanker-type railroad car laying on its side apparently was leaking some type of substance, believed by officers to be acid or sulfur. The ground "was boiling" and the smell "was very bad," the officers said.

VENICE POLICE SGT. Joe Meehan and Police Officer Daniel McKinney were escorted from the Broadway viaduct to the tank car by Terminal Railroad Association police, who said railroad workers were refusing to work on a train nearby because the fumes were spreading throughout the area.

The fumes were described as coming from a substance which was "boiling in the ground" and giving off an acrid odor.

At this point, both the Venice Fire Department and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency were notified of the problem.

THE TANKER CAR apparently was being scrapped for salvage purposes, reports related. Whatever was coming from its tank "was bubbling like hot tar over a 50-foot area," authorities said.

Firefighters dumped five truckloads of water in the area. They remained at the scene more than two hours, and were called back there Tuesday when it was feared that the fumes might recur.

The police officers said they signed a complaint against Belson Recycling, citing the firm for allegedly creating a public nuisance. It was the third citation issued to the firm in recent weeks.

TOM POWELL, an emergency response officer from the Illinois EPA's Collinsville office, came to the Venice police headquarters at 10:15 p.m. Monday and talked with policemen about the situation.

Powell told the Press-Record on Tuesday the railroad car was an abandoned tanker which may have been at that location waiting to be converted into scrap metal

"for a long period of time, possibly several years."

"There was no way we could tell what had been in the tanker. It was impossible to determine. There were no labels on it, nor anything to indicate what had been inside," Powell said.

"WE'RE PRETTY SURE there was little if any material inside it when it was junked by the railroad and turned over to a scrap dealer."

"We also can't say for sure whether the incident was started by cutting open the tanker" or by accident."

Powell's report will be turned over to the EPA's Division of Air Pollution for further investigation, he said.

ON TUESDAY NIGHT, 1st Ward Alderman Philip Daniels brought the episode to the attention of the Venice City Council.

"I understand since last September there have been 15 complaints signed," Daniels said. "None has been adjudicated due to postponements of the hearings, officials said."

"This incident last night involved a tank car with some type of acid inside and (there was worry that it) could have spread toxic fumes all over the city."

"IT APPEARS to be a continual problem. Different materials are burned at various times," the alderman said.

"We may also want to check on some electrical transformers brought (to Venice)," he said.

Such transformers may contain certain oil which has PCBs in it, explained Daniels. The alderman is also a longtime volunteer on the Venice Fire Department.

4TH WARD ALDERMAN Victor Valentine Sr. asked City Attorney Lawrence Hartman if the city has any type of ordinance regarding inspection of salvage businesses, and whether yearly reports are received by the city.

"To my knowledge there are no city ordinances (governing their operations) but there are state laws that cover it," Hartman said.

"We should at least be knowledgeable about these reports and, if we don't get them, we should ask for them. What we are concerned about is if we are OK here or not," Valentine said.

Leaders push downtown revitalization

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

"The downtown area is often a city's heart. If the heart's not strong, then the body will not be able to survive."

With that statement, Bruce Kepner, University of Illinois extension adviser on business and economic development, explained to area city officials, retailers and other business representatives why they need to work together to save their downtowns from deterioration.

KEPNER, of Edwardsville, and other economic development officials spoke Tuesday during a seminar on downtown development held at the Collinsville Holiday Inn. The seminar was attended by 50 persons from various communities, including Granite City, Belleville and Edwardsville.

"One reason to encourage downtown development, Kepner told the group, is "dollars and cents. You want to protect your existing investment such as streets, sidewalks, water and sewer."

Other investments include existing buildings and businesses, jobs and revenue from sales and property taxes. Downtown areas, he noted, provide a good environment for new business opportunities because of lower overhead, rental availability and existing traffic.

TOM WOBBE, director of planning for Belleville Economic Progress Inc., told the group how Belleville managed to redevelop its downtown area.

The $40 million redevelopment project, Wobbe said, began with a plan. The main ingredients for implementing a plan are government support, coordinated merchant support, funding, having a qualified professional and persistence.

"When we talked about downtown, we talked about parking, accessibility, business facades and signs," he said. "You have to do things with your downtown area. If you sit back and wait for redevelopment, it may be five or ten years, but your downtown will die."

WOBBE SAID that when the redevelopment project began in Belleville, there were over a dozen vacancies in the downtown area.

"Tomorrow, we're giving grand opening ceremonies to usher in 20 new businesses to our downtown."

Tom Wilson, executive director for the Galesburg Downtown Council, called downtowns in general an "attitude. Downtown is merely a piece of the pie that makes up your community. There are countless stories across the country where people or businesses were thinking about moving into a community, and the face of the downtown area was not attractive, so people didn't want anything to do with it."

Galesburg's development program, he stressed, is on-going. "One thing that we'll never be able to say in downtown redevelopment is, 'Hey, we won. We won the battle.'"

Grants available from United Way

In order to become more flexible and responsive to changing community needs for services, the Tri-Cities Area United Way has made available $10,000 to be allocated in venture grants to area human service agencies during 1985.

This money was retained as a result of a citizen review allocations process last year, in anticipation of future community needs, Bob Glik, UW board president, said.

PROPOSALS ARE being accepted from both member agencies and agencies not currently funded by United Way. The grants to agencies will be awarded in amounts of $500 and up, depending on the demonstrated need for services and the nature of the project.

The grants must be used by agencies to add or develop programs and services to benefit people in the local area. No funds may be used for

PTA scholarship award available

The Karen Jones Scholarship given by the Granite City Area Council of PTAs will be awarded May 29 during the Granite City High School senior recognition assembly.

The award is available to any graduating senior now enrolled at GCHS. Students' cumulative grade point average will be a determining factor.

Other factors will be determination to achieve in a chosen area, character, and willingness to contribute to others.

Financial need is not of primary importance but will enter into consideration should two applicants score equally, a spokesman said.

The applicant may attend any accredited college that he or she chooses, regardless of location.

This year, one scholarship of $1,000 will be awarded. It will not be limited to any course of study.

Any student wishing to apply must complete a form and return it by mail before May 10. Applications may be obtained at the high school from John Haag.

The scholarship committee of the Granite City Area Council will be sponsoring a Schnucks luncheon May 8 at Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave. Tickets are available from all PTA council delegates or by calling 931-4219 or 931-3975.

This luncheon will be the final project to meet this year's goal.

Savings bonds were presented to the children of Karen Jones, Eric and Angela, for their further education at the Area Council awards banquet. This year, a large plaque will be presented to the high school, with former scholarship winners' names engraved.

1930 GCHS classes plan reunion on June 9

Members of the Granite City Community High School classes of 1930 are holding a 55-year class reunion Sunday, June 9, at 6 p.m. at Ravanelli's American Village Shopping Center.

Mrs. Marie Jennings, 876-2206, Mrs. Phil Stout, 452-5316, Mrs. Frank Frauenfelder, 344-5763, or Oscar W. Ash, 876-8960, may be contacted for reservations by the graduates.

French, Indian War assemblage to be re-enacted

On Saturday, May 4, and Sunday, May 5, Fort de Chartres State Historic Site will sponsor the first annual French and Indian War assemblage. Unlike its rendezvous held in June, this event re-enacts a specific time period in the fort's history.

In the years from 1756 till 1763, the French engaged in a major war with the British. Re-enactors and military units throughout the nation who specialize in this historic period will be demonstrating and competing.

Camped inside the fort's walls, with the French on one side and the British on the other, they will spend the entire weekend historically correct — down to the smallest details.

The various military units will compete in a team shooting competition using 18th Century flintlock muskets. They will be loading and firing by volleys, as was done in the 18th Century.

There will be a fashion show at which visitors will be able to see the differences in clothing worn by the French and British, civilian and military.

The public is also invited to attend an 18th Century dance which will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. This will feature a live string band playing 18th Century music for oldtime square and contra dancing.

The entire weekend, including the dance Saturday night, is free to the public. The fort is near Prairie du Rocher, Ill.

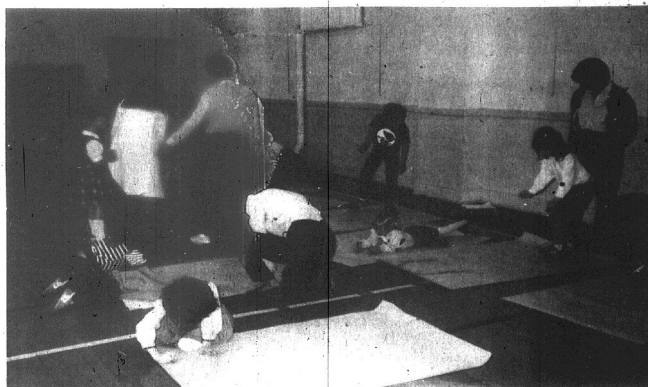

Top awards to 2 local artists

Twenty-one works of art by 15 artists received blue ribbons at the 19th annual Town and Country Art exhibition. Blue-ribbon recipients included two Granite Cityans, Lorraine Decatur and Nellie Dierker.

The 21 works were among 187 entries by 42 artists from throughout Madison County. The works will now be eligible to compete in the regional Town and Country Art show June 7, 8 and 9 at St. Clair Square, Fairview Heights.

BURGLAR GETS GUNS, CASH

Money and guns worth a total value of $500 were taken from the Herbert Williams residence, 4245 Lake Drive, April 25. Entry was made through a window.

OPERATION SNOWFLAKE at Sacred Heart-St. Joseph School, which sponsored the drug and alcohol prevention program in March and April. Students are shown making outlines of persons; on the paper outlines, they placed pictures of substances, such as food items, that are beneficial to one's body. Operation Snowflake teaches children self-worth, self-esteem and self-confidence; they "get high" on themselves to the point that they would not consider harming their bodies or their health, despite peer pressure to do so. The program was directed by Daryl Calmes of Piasa Health Care Center with the assistance of the school mothers. Sacred Heart-St. Joseph is the first school in this area to provide the program for all nine grades, kindergarten through eighth. Sister Mary Esther is principal and Mary Lerch is president of the Parent-Teacher Organization.

Specialized Services program accredited

Specialized Services Inc. of Granite City and Alton has been granted 3-year accreditation by the Committee on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities. Specialized Services is a vocational rehabilitation agency serving all of Madison County with vocational testing, skills training, sheltered employment and placement services for the handicapped.

The national accreditation was announced by Alan H. Toppel, CARF executive, to Thomas Moehn, executive director of Specialized Services.

Locks closing 3 days

The 600- and 360-foot main and auxiliary lock chambers at Alton Locks and Dam 26 will be closed during daylight hours May 6 to 8. Government-owned DeLong Pier Barges BPL 6765 and 6766 will be reset and removed, respectively.

WHEELS TAKEN AT CAR LOT

Three tires and three wheels were taken from a 1978 Olds Cutlass in the used car lot at Novolity Chevrolet, 1511 Niedringhaus Ave., April 23. Also taken was a wheel cover from a Chevrolet Monte Carlo. Total value of the items was $500.

Museum to open on May 18-19

Grand opening activities are set for Saturday, May 18, to mark the opening of the Old Six Mile Museum on Maryville Road near Emert Avenue and Stratford Lane.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony is planned at 10 a.m. that day.

Elmer Stille, building chairman, has reported that volunteers are busy working at the museum to complete the preparations.

On the opening day May 18, an open house is planned from 5 p.m. with refreshments being served that day only.

The museum will be open to the public on Sunday, May 19, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Articles on the new museum have been published in the Goshen Preservation Newsletter and the Old State Capital Courier News of Springfield. Jeanette Scannell reported at the April meeting of the Old Six Mile Historical Society.

Georgia Engelke, president, reported that Erma Taylor of the Cloverview Garden Club has reported the club's wish to sponsor a herb garden in the yard at the museum.

The board of directors recommended that the garden be named the Loraine Bischoff Garden in memory of this member.

Unanimous approval was given. Vasil Georgeff and Barry Loman presented a $100 check from the Lincoln Athletic Club. A check from the Business and Professional Women was presented by Ramona Burnett and Florence Moore. Other contributions were made by Burton Bernard, Celeste Whitford, Harry and Margaret Pechie and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harshany of Madison were enrolled as new members. A prize was won by Elvin Fildes.

Hostesses for the evening were Marguerite Barker, Mary and Elizabeth Gargac and Alma Beckman.

The public is being invited to a May 6 meeting at which Virginia Segar will speak about the history of the Segar family.

Fee added when paying Ill. Bell phone bill late

Illinois Bell customers who pay their telephone bills late will be charged an additional fee, effective this month.

The new 1.5 percent late payment charge is part of an April 23 Illinois Commerce Commission order granting Illinois Bell's request for additional revenue to replace and modernize equipment.

"Annually, nearly $1.5 billion in payments are received after the due date," said Fred K. Konrad, Illinois Bell assistant vice president. "It costs all Illinois Bell customers when we extend credit at no charge to those who don't pay on time."

Also approved were changes in directory assistance charges and increases in some service connection charges.

The new charges cover increased depreciation expenses authorized by the Federal Communications Commission in 1984. The order will increase company revenues by $47 million annually.

"Most residence customers who pay their bill on time will see an increase in their monthly bill," Konrad said. "That's because most of the increases are for optional services that are priced below our cost. Basic local rates and calling charges will remain unchanged."

The two-edition directory assistance allowance for business and residence customers will be eliminated. However, charges for calls to directory assistance will remain 30 cents each.

Persons making calls from hospitals and hotels will begin paying directory assistance charges.

"Customers who choose to use directory assistance service will be the ones paying for the service," Konrad said. "Since 90 percent of directory assistance calls are for numbers listed in the directory, most customers can avoid the charge."

Disabled and blind customers unable to use phone directories will continue to be exempt from directory assistance charges.

Charges for establishing telephone service also will increase. The residence service order charge will increase to $34.50 from $29. The business service order charge will rise to $64 from $54.

The line connection charge for business and residence customers will increase to $20.50 from $16.50.

"Our present charges to install service are still below the actual costs," Konrad said. "This ICC decision recognizes the need to base our rates more on the costs of providing service."

The monthly charge for Call Waiting service will increase to $3 from $2.52, and Speed Call 30 service will increase to $5 from $4.85.

As part of the order, Illinois Bell is allowed to sell specialized telephone equipment on a deferred basis for persons with hearing, speech, vision and mobility impairments.

The company requested the increases in November 1984 to cover increased depreciation expenses that recognize the need to replace existing equipment with newer, more efficient technology.

"Twenty years ago we installed equipment that was intended to last 40 years," Konrad said.

"Rapid technological advances and increasing competition have forced us to depreciate and replace equipment more rapidly to take advantage of cost-savings in new technology and to meet customer expectations for service."

Timely news, 3 issues a week

In the interest of community service, the Press-Record and Journal news staff will print distribution items submitted by community members in the earliest possible issue of either the Press-Record, the Press-Record/Journal or the Wednesday Journal.

A news item that is designated to run in a particular paper will do so if space permits; otherwise, it will run in the next issue. For example, an item submitted to run in the Wednesday paper may have to be held over to run in the Thursday paper.

As always, priority is given to items submitted by community members, to items submitted with a deadline (a coming event), to items that are kept short, and to items that are typed or printed in double-spaced lines.

Due to the need to serve everyone, releases can be printed in only one of the three issues. There is no need to send releases to more than one of the three newspapers.

The news staff looks forward to extending our reputation for community service by continuing to present local information quickly and accurately.

Fair questions deserve answers

Is planning for the 1992 Chicago World's Fair of interest in Granite City and environs?

It had better be, because the prospect of the fair being as profitable as the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics seems remote. Instead, Downstate and Chicagoans alike could be saddled with huge debts, as political cartoonists around the state have begun to point out.

To explain the worried frowns, it is not necessary to equate the big Chicago proposal with the financially-plagued, relatively small worldwide fairs at Knoxville (1982) and New Orleans (1984). We would guess the Chicago lakefront event will be spectacular and that it will attract vast crowds.

But reports that it would have to bring in 300,000 people a day to break even are alarming. This projection is said to assume no cost overruns, while Chicago Alderman Martin Oberman says the spending estimates already have risen from $600 million to $837 million and are likely to exceed $1.3 billion by April 1982.

Former U.S. Senator Adlai Stevenson said Monday fair officials need to provide more information on the event's theme, purpose, finances, environmental impact and social effect. He heads a citizen advisory committee appointed by Illinois House Speaker Michael Madigan to monitor the fair's progress.

Legislators gave the fair an $8.8 million planning budget in June 1984 and are being pressed to approve another interim budget. Madigan's comment: "There are a good many other ways the state could use $8 million to $10 million."

Business leaders, the governor and the Illinois Senate president are among those boosting the fair. It should be noted that Oberman may be planning a campaign for statewide office himself, and that Stevenson is no friend of Gov. James Thompson after a razor-thin loss to him in the 1982 election.

But the critics unquestionably have been doing their "homework," and Oberman in particular has raised a number of questions deserving candid answers. He has voiced concern that the state government may plunge itself—and taxpayers—into hundreds of millions of dollars of bond debt related to the fair.

It is much too early to make a final judgment on the fair, and we hope to be among those journeying to attend it seven years from now. But there ought to be "ground rules" to protect citizens' pocketbooks, and they would be far easier to implement if established well before construction of the fairgrounds begins in 1987-88.

Dress code should note heat in classroom

To the editor:

I am a mother of a 14-year-old girl who got in trouble for wearing a top that I told her to wear.

She was put in detention and made to wear a hot jacket.

She goes to Coolidge Junior High. The kids at the high school can wear anything they want to. But the kids at Coolidge have to wear something hot when it is 90 degrees out. Why is this?

If the school would let the kids at Coolidge have some of the things they have over at the high school, maybe the children would want to go to school.

If the parents of the kids who go to Coolidge would get together and help the kids, maybe the kids would want to learn and to stay in school.

The principal stays in a cool office, but the kids have to stay in a hot classroom all day. This isn't right at all.

Kids don't want to be in jail and that is what Coolidge is.

Costly war, and missing in action, recalled

To the Editor:

April 29, 1985, marked 10 years since the fall of Saigon. Ten years ago, the last Americans fled Vietnam.

But for many, the war never really ended, not for the men who fought it and not for America.

It was longer than the Civil War, the First World War and Second World War all put together.

We spent $140 billion and suffered 58,022 Americans killed, with another 303,000 wounded.

Perhaps a million and a half Vietnamese died.

The war shook our confidence in America as a nation with a special mission, and it left the men who fought it "orphans" in their own country. It divided us then and its memory still divides us.

So, today, let's remember all of our Vietnam veterans. Let's tell them, "Welcome home." They didn't hear that 10 years ago.

And while we're remembering them, did you know that there are 2,477 men still "missing in action" from that war?

Those who want to help the missing may contact their local VFW post or me.

Runaway budget has automatic increases

To the Editor:

When is a $20 billion increase considered a $50 billion decrease? When it applies to the federal government's budget, that's when.

Despite all the rumors that we have heard about massive federal budget cuts and how the White House-Senate compromise on the federal budget is going to gut and cut federal spending, all of these stories have one basic fallacy. They are wrong.

The 1986-86 federal government budget is not being cut. In fact, it would increase government expenditures by $20 billion in fiscal 1986 and more than $40 billion in fiscal 1987 and 1988.

According to this "austere" budget program, the federal government will be spending more than $100 billion more three years from now than it is spending this year, and $45 more for every man, woman and child in America.

Congress and the president are going to attempt to control the federal budget. For the last two decades, the federal budget has been going up at twice the rate of inflation. Now, the goal is to bring the increase in federal outlays in fiscal 1986 to half the rate of inflation.

The president, and Republican

Senate budget compromisers are in a tough position. They are caught in the middle.

If they don't reduce the record deficits, they will be tarred by the big spenders. These are the spenders who got us into this fix in the first place by placing the automatic mechanisms in the budget that have resulted in much of the budget being out of the reach of Congress and the president.

If we take reasonable steps to control spending, the same people will scream the loudest about the heartless cuts that will be taken from the poor.

When is a 2 percent increase considered a decrease? When it is applied to Social Security or any other social program.

Before the ink was even dry on the compromise budget resolution, screams were heard around Washington about how it would cut Social Security benefits, and how it would be so unfair to the nation's old people.

Once again, this isn't the case at all. The budget would not cut benefits, but would guarantee at least a 2 percent increase. But this is Washington, and a 2 percent increase is considered a 2 percent decrease.

One question arises when it comes to many of the people-oriented programs. What is the goal of a program and just who is the program supposed to help?

For example, the justification for continued increases in Social Security is that old people are poor and that to slow the growth of any benefits to these people would result in throwing even more of them into poverty.

The fact is that there are old poor people and young poor people; but if you are young, your chances of being poor are greater than if you are old.

In fact, after you take into account all the benefits that senior citizens get, one is about three times more likely to be poor if he is young than if he is old.

There is an old saying that the difference between the rich and the poor is that the rich have money. But the poverty professionals around Washington have created a myriad of programs that give people everything but money, so that even if they are living middle-class lives they would be doomed to permanent statistical poverty.

We spend over $20 billion on food stamps, but that isn't counted as money, so it is not included in the income data on poverty, even though you can go to the supermarket and buy a steak with them.

We spend over $100 billion on medical care that you and I would have to pay for by taking money out of our pocket, but that isn't money and that doesn't count in reducing poverty.

We spend billions on subsidizing housing to give people good places to live at a low price, but that isn't money and doesn't count.

It appears that the poverty professionals have sought to make sure that the problem will never go away no matter how much we spend—and that's the way they like it. It keeps them working and keeps us paying taxes.

We can no longer afford to be intimidated by a runaway federal budget. The only way we can rein it back into control is through a weaning process that limits growth in federal spending — all federal spending.

Cemetery visit

Visitors to the Granite City Post Office Wednesday afternoon were asked if they think President Reagan should visit the Bitburg Cemetery in West Germany this Sunday. Their comments follow.

Rosemary Ensor, Granite City

"Since the war was before my time, I really don't understand why there's people against him going, and people for. If I had lived through that period of time, maybe I'd understand it."

Richard Bilderback, Granite City

"I don't think it would hurt anything. It's better to make another friend than another enemy, that's for sure. Those guys are already dead; they're not going to hurt anyone."

Joe Bieniecki, Granite City

"No! I don't think he should go to Bitburg. I don't think we should ever forget what they (the Nazis) did to the people of Europe. If we had had 20 million dead over here, we wouldn't forget. In America, the politicians want us to forget so we don't remember their mistakes."

C. E. Geer, Granite City

"The president is in a damned-if-he-does, damned-if-he-doesn't situation. Now that he's committed to it, he should go. I think that his advisors should have checked who was buried in that cemetery before they set up the visit."

Wants flag to be flown on Memorial Day

To the Editor:

If the past is any reflection of the future, you may not see an American flag at St. Mark's School grounds this Memorial Day. The flagpole was dedicated and erected in 1970. The plaque below reads: "In memory of our parishioners who have served our country in the armed forces. May we long remember what these few have done for so many."

Father Shea, recently deceased, was the pastor at the time. The flag should fly also in his memory.

As a 1937 graduate of St. Mark's School, Venice, and a World War II overseas combat veteran, I am concerned at not seeing "Old Glory" flying briskly from the flagpole daily or on Memorial Day, Veterans' Day, etc. The pole was dedicated to the servicemen of the parish.

There is no acceptable reason to justify not flying our American flag at a school grounds to instill pride and patriotism for the children and for the community. For several years, this particular pole has been "flagless."

Surely, a flag is not that expensive to fly. A new halyard line and new flag should be placed, and the line tied at the top of the pole, similar to the Venice Public School that flies Old Glory day or night. There is no theft of the line or flag.

In these troubled times, we should all show our colors. We should not let our colors down for any reason. Patriotism is first, last and always.

With respect and honor, Old Glory should be displayed to honor our country and the dedicated men who fought and died for it, for all Americans to view with pride and dignity. God bless our country and our flag.

Trial lawyers cite medical patients' rights

To the Editor:

We have issued a booklet, "Medical Malpractice — Whose Responsibility Is It?"

The Illinois House and Senate Judiciary Committees must review two sets of bills focused on this very issue.

According to trial lawyers, legislation sponsored by Illinois doctors and their insurers is structured to create unique privileges for an already privileged economic class — at the expense of those who have been victimized by negligent treatment.

The doctors' bills would, among other things, place a $100,000 limit on the amount a malpractice victim can recover from a doctor for pain and suffering, no matter how serious the injury. The legislation also presumes that no human life is worth more than $25,000 for purposes of compensating the deceased's family.

All victims of malpractice would bear the burden, our booklet argues, in the form of limited recovery, to reduce doctor's insurance costs.

If this legislation passes, the most seriously injured victims would pay the cost of reduced premiums and costs — for the negligent doctor. All this would be with no promise that, in the future, the doctor's insurance company will reduce insurance premiums.

The booklet goes on to recommend that both lawyers and doctors take more responsibility for their actions and suggests a series of solutions to solve any possible problems in the current system — solutions that have already been proposed in the form of legislation (SB 1900, HB 1787) by Senate President Philip J. Rock, Senator Prescott Bloom (R-Peoria), and State Representative John J. Cullerton (D-Chicago), among others.

This important legislation recognizes an affirmative obligation to police and prevent the filing of non-meritorious claims. This would ameliorate the medical insurance problem.

Our booklet concludes that the real necessity is reduction of medical negligence, not reduction of patient's rights.

Vehicle tailpipe testing here will be costly

To the Editor:

While only motorists in Chicago and the Madison-St. Clair counties area will be subject to having their vehicles tested for dangerous emissions, all Illinois taxpayers have a stake in how the mandatory program will be paid for.

Current plans to divert a one-cent gasoline tax effective July 1, to pay for emissions testing in five affected counties, will severely retard road projects across the state.

The best estimates are that the motor fuel tax will raise just under $50 million per year, or about what this program will cost annually.

Translated into 80-20 federal highway matching funds with the state, this could mean the loss of about a $250 million road program which is shared with counties, cities and villages statewide for highway construction and street repairs. While the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has placed a $15 million appropriation request in the state budget presented by the governor, the agency has yet to explain how much the program will cost.

Inspection contractors in California, Wisconsin, Connecticut and Maryland charged $10 per inspection.

Because the Illinois EPA proposal is more complicated than these states, a $12 to $15 fee will be needed to start the program, meaning a minimum five-year program cost of between $180 and $225.

Including cost factors inherent in the state's request for proposal about recently to private contractors for building, equipping and staffing 18 facilities, including an estimated front cost for contractors of $25 million to $50 million — the real cost of the program is potentially unlimited. It represents an open-ended authority to raid motor fuel tax revenues.

Governor Thompson is on record as saying that all Illinois gasoline taxpayers should not have to pay for urban testing, but the way the law stands now, that is exactly what will happen.

We question the plan for all Illinois taxpayers to subsidize a massive tailpipe testing program. Should they have to trade the benefit of cleaner air in Chicago and East St. Louis for unsafe streets and highways across the state?

Real estate tax bills to be mailed this month

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

It's happening earlier this year. Madison County property owners can expect to find real estate tax bills in their mailboxes about the third week of May.

Madison County Treasurer Michael "Mike" Henkhaus said the county is running 3 1/2 months ahead of last year, when tax bills weren't mailed until September. But the county is still about 3 1/2 weeks behind the hoped-for schedule.

STATE LAW CALLS for the first installment of property tax bills to be paid by June 1 of each year. Madison County property tax payments this year (1984 tax year for 1985 collection) will be due the third week in June for the first installment and Sept. 4 for the second of the two installments.

Henkhaus said changes in assessment and taxing policies have helped to bring the tax-bill mailing schedule to the ideal dates. "Actually, I think making the Board of Review fulltime helped a lot," the treasurer said.

The taxing committee (established by the Madison County Board) helped, too. They were able to sit down and put the pieces together. We did about a year's work in eight months. "Because the tax cycle is falling into a regular pattern, Henkhaus anticipates that the bills will be mailed on time next year.

TOWN COLLECTORS in township that still handle the collection process will be able to collect and distribute tax notices this year, something they didn't get to do last year because of the late mailing of the bills. Township collectors may only collect and distribute through Aug. 31 each year, after which the county treasurer has the sole responsibility.

Some county officials contend that the mailing of the tax bills this month may shock some property owners who are not expecting to pay taxes again until later this year.

"As a taxpayer, I'd understand if they (the bills) were late,"

Henkhaus said. "But the taxing districts will be overjoyed that the bills are (nearly) on time."

Some governmental bodies in recent years have had to issue large numbers of tax anticipation warrants, gaining operating funds by borrowing against future real estate tax payments.

HOME HERE BURGLARIZED

Articles worth more than $800 were taken in a burglary at 2154 Edison Ave. April 30. Jennifer Carney said she returned to her home late that evening and found that much of her house had been ransacked. A door had been pried open. Items missing include assorted jewelry, a home computer, five tapes, a watch and a cordless phone.

FIRST CUSTOMER to purchase a five-pack of electric light bulbs from Explorer Greg Skonitzer, left, is Madison Mayor-elect John N. Bellico. Members of Explorer Post 10-4 will go door to door Saturday morning selling Sylvania bulbs at $3 a pack. Proceeds will be used by the post for its activity fund.

Aldermen to discuss expansion of city liquor licenses to include supermarkets

Granite City aldermen will consider the possibility of expanding a city liquor license ordinance to allow supermarkets to sell liquor.

Sixth Ward Alderman Shaun Perjak, who is spearheading the meeting, told council members three weeks ago the matter should be considered in order to replace city revenue which may be lost. The added revenue would be derived from increased liquor sales, it is being said.

She was referring to the April advisory referendum in which city residents voted to raise the current 5 percent utility tax on telephones. The tax currently brings in an annual average of $250,000.

Formal requests for liquor licenses have been received from Schnucks, National Food Store, Shop N Save, Kroger and Walgreens. Schnucks, National and Kroger officials have asked for liquor licenses in the past and were denied.

The city ordinance currently allows 48 tavern licenses (Class A) and 16 package liquor store licenses (Class B).

Perjak said the council will be considering the following options:

Requiring establishments seeking a liquor license to have a certain dollar volume of annual sales. An estimate said Friday that dollar amount has not been discussed.

Opening the liquor licenses up to all establishments seeking them.

Defendant asks for asylum

A Venice man—charged with assault, disorderly conduct and resisting a Venice peace officer—told Chief Criminal Court Judge Philip J. Rarick on Monday that he wants political asylum in the Soviet Union.

The request was voiced in Edwardsville by Benjamin Jones, 35, at a pre-trial hearing.

Rarick on Tuesday ordered that Jones be examined by Dr. Lawrence Taliana, a psychologist for the Madison County Probation Department, to evaluate whether the defendant should face trial on the misdemeanor charges. The case related to a Jan. 26 disturbance at his home in the 1200 block of Market Street.

The judge said the request was the first of its kind heard in this county, and termed it "bizarre."

Rarick said he wants to make sure Jones understands the nature of the allegations against him, and that the defendant is able to assist his lawyer. No new hearing or trial date has been set.

Jones is in custody at the county jail in lieu of $10,000 bond ($1,000 bail) and Rarick refused Tuesday to authorize a pre-trial release.

Court records show Jones failed to appear at a March 18 arraignment; he is said to have commented later that "these are political charges and I am requesting political asylum."

Seeking asylum or citizenship in a foreign country is believed to involve renouncing U.S. citizenship.

City stickers in Venice go on sale

The sale of city vehicle stickers, costing $3 each, started Wednesday at the office of Venice City Comptroller Roseann Koelker. Each auto, truck or motorcycle owned by a Venice resident is required to have a sticker displayed on the windshield.

After May 31, each sticker will cost $5 and the vehicle owner also will face the possibility of a citation being issued by police.

Stickers may be obtained between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday at the comptroller's office in the Venice City Hall.

ARRESTED FOR BATTERY

Terry D. Ottinger, 27, of 3160 Yale Drive, was arrested for battery April 28 after he allegedly struck a woman in the face with his fist. The complaint was signed by Christina Garner of Yale Drive. Ottinger was released on $102 bail.

Arrests, warrants result in 122 burglary clearances

The arrests of two men and the issuance of informational warrants against a third man and a woman are part of an investigation that has resulted in clearance of 122 residential burglary cases in Granite City, police officers said this week.

Arrested were Jack McLean, 46, of Granite City and John Harris, 39, of East St. Louis. Both men are charged with two counts of residential burglary — one from the Belleville police department and one from the Glen Carbon police.

The men were arrested in Belleville after police there were informed about an ongoing burglary investigation by Granite City detectives.

Suspects allegedly were trying to pawn several stolen items at a Belleville pawn shop which is owned by a Belleville policeman. Pictures of persons, left with the Belleville officer, aided in the investigation.

Informational charges alleging one count of residential burglary, seven counts of felony theft (over $300 value) and one count of unlawful possession of a controlled substance have been issued against two other persons.

The burglary warrants are from the Madison County state's attorney's office and the theft and possession charges are from the St. Clair County state's attorney's office.

Sought by police are Christina

Pollock, 25, of State Park Place and Clyde Jines, 39, of Washington Park. Granite City Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer said Friday that two detectives and one patrolman have been instrumental in the clearance of many local burglaries. They are Detectives Jerry Wilson and Jeff Parker and Patrolman Mike Chosich.

"I can stress enough what a good job they have done in this investigation," Veizer said. He said the investigation lasted more than two months.

The case was broken in March of this year, police said, when a resident of the 3300 block of Johnson Road observed a strange car in his driveway upon arriving home. The man pulled his car in behind the other car, blocking the prowlers' exit.

The prowlers were forced to flee on foot. Evidence recovered from the suspects' abandoned car offered a valuable lead in the case, Veizer related.

Cases deemed cleared by the police include 74 occurring in 1984 and 48 in 1985.

Veizer said all property recovered as a result of the investigation has been identified by the rightful owners and is being held in evidence.

Other property taken in burglaries had been traded for narcotics by unnamed law violators.

Armed robbery attempt at car wash

A masked gunman attempted an armed robbery at Pep Car Wash on Nookeri Road on the evening of April 30.

David Mundy, an employee, was removing his money changer as he entered the office when he encountered the man. The intruder displayed a handgun.

The gunman told Mundy to approach but Mundy threw the money changer at him and ran to the Jack-in-the-Box restaurant next door.

Witnesses said they saw a man running east, but no one was found in a search of the area.

Maxvill in park baseball parade

The Granite City Park Board announced at its meeting last night that this Saturday's baseball parade will not be rescheduled in the event of rain.

The parade is to feature St. Louis Baseball Cardinal General Manager Dal Maxvill, and one of the ball fields will be named after him.

The board agreed it would be hard to line up Maxvill on another date, so it decided not to attempt to reschedule the event.

"They're calling for sunny skies Saturday," said Director of Parks and Recreation Dave Nolan. "So, hopefully, we'll be all right."

Also featured at the parade will be a car display from four area dealers. Convertible models will be featured in the parade, which is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. at 24th Street and Madison Avenue.

TWO WOMEN ARE ARRESTED ON TRESPASSING CHARGES

Two women were arrested, on separate days, for trespassing at the Mid-State Gateway Shopping Plaza. Gloria Dorris, 31, Poplar Bluff, Mo., was taken into custody April 28 and was released the next day on $50 bail.

Cathy Williams, 21, Liberty, Mo., was arrested April 24 and was freed April 26 after paying a fine of $100.

MAN ARRESTED AT STORE

James B. Ponder, 20, of 4005 Kirkpatrick Homes was charged with property damage and retail theft April 30 at Kozzyak's, 2600 Nameeki Road. Store employees said they saw a man placing food inside his jacket. As they tried to apprehend him, several items in the store were damaged during the struggle. Ponder was subdued as police arrived. Pleading innocent, he was released on $1,000 bond.

BOAT AND TRAILER TAKEN

Jack Kuhl, 2146 Lee Ave., notified police April 29 of the theft of a 14-foot boat and trailer, valued at a total of $500, from his yard.

THE DO YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Frequently people who are injured as a result of a doctor's negligence inquire whether the statute of limitations begins running on the date the malpractice took place or on the date the victim discovered the injury. If the doctor negligently leaves surgical sponges in the patient's abdomen at the time of the operation, for instance, the date of discovery may be several years after the actual operation. At what point in time would the victim be precluded from filing suit?

The Illinois Code of Civil Procedures provides that no action for injury against any physician shall be brought more than two years after the date the injured person knew or should have known of the injury. In no event, however, can a malpractice case be brought more than four years after the negligent act, unless there is fraud involved.

To help clarify this statute of limitations language, let us look at a hypothetical case involving the sponges in the abdomen. Let's assume the operation was performed on September 1, 1982 and the patient became aware of the negligence on February 12 of 1983. He would then have until February 12 of 1985 to file suit. If, however, he did not discover the negligence until October 1 of 1986, and if there was no "fraudulent concealment," then the injured party could not file suit because it would be more than four years after the negligent act occurred. This would be barred by the statute of limitations even though the victim did not discover the negligence until October 1, 1986.

Sometimes, however, the facts of a given case make it more difficult to decide whether the statute of limitations has run. In one recent case, a woman claimed that the doctor negligently severed nerves in her neck during an operation on June 9, 1981. On July 17, 1981, she saw the doctor again and complained she was having pain in her shoulder. The following day, she told the doctor's nurse that she's out something that he should know. The plaintiff waited to file suit until September 2, 1983.

The doctor argued that the case should be dismissed because the statute of limitations had run before the case was filed. The Court agreed. The Judge felt that the patient knew of her injury by July 18, 1981, and therefore had to file suit by July 18 of 1983.

K mart aids search for missing children

Every day, children disappear across the United States. Whether abducted by an unknown person or kidnapped by a parent, whether they run away or are taken for pornography or prostitution, more than 200,000 will be officially reported missing this year and every year.

K mart Corporation and its five photofinishers have joined in a nationwide drive to make Americans aware of the tragedy of missing children. The Lost Child Program, which begins operation in May, will distribute in every U.S. K mart store photographs of missing children as well as safety tips for parents and children.

The information will be available in store displays to all K mart customers, with no purchase required. Each photo processing order will also include the material.

"Most important," said Samuel G. Lettich, vice chairman, "the Lost Child Program will serve as an educational resource, building a general awareness of child safety and ultimately lessening the number of future disappearances."

"Through its 2,000-plus stores, K mart processes more than 43 million photographic orders each year," he noted.

Along with the family photo order will come a flyer with pictures and descriptions of four missing children. The flyer also includes safety tips for children and parents and the toll-free telephone number for Missing and Exploited Children (1-800-843-5678).

Guardian Photo, a subsidiary of Guardian Industries Corp., will work with K mart's other photofinishers across the country — American Photo, Colorcraft, Bicknell and Photocolor — to prepare the flyers for distribution every 30 days. Each photoprocessor will insert the flyers with all K mart photo processing orders.

"The major thrust of the program is to increase national awareness of the tragedy and terror of missing children. K mart stores will offer information through speakers and other materials," Lettich said.

"We will work with the National Center in the dissemination of information and the identification and recovery of children, regardless of the circumstances of their disappearance."

About one million children voluntarily leave their homes each year. A National Center for Missing and Exploited Children spokesman, Barbara Chapman, explained this is an endangered group of children who often are victims of street crimes or exploitation. "Approximately 11 percent of these children end up as victims of criminal or sexual exploitation," she said.

"Thousands of children are estimated to be victims of kidnapping by noncustodial parents each year. There are no standard methods of recordkeeping, and laws governing parental stealing are unclear, so the real impact of the problem is hard to gauge."

"The remainder of missing children are abducted by unknown persons. The estimates of children in this category vary greatly — up to 20,000 and more annually."

Difficulties in establishing statistics, inconsistent investigative procedures, a myriad of search groups compiling information, and sporadic efforts at increased public awareness all compound the problem on a nationwide scale.

Changes have been slow in coming, but the tide may be turning. The 1984 Missing Children's Assistance Act led to creation of a National Center for Missing and Exploited Children as well as a President's Advisory Commission to study the problem. National Center Executive Director Jay Howell authored the act.

On a more local basis, parents, teachers, professionals and law enforcement officials are joining to present a united defense of their children.

In addition to K mart's program, other private businesses — dairies, soft drink bottlers, advertising distributors and even utilities — have initiated regional programs to feature the photographs of missing children with their products.

"Even more importantly, parents should take an active role in the education of their children," Chapman said.

"By explaining what their children should do if separated from their parents, making sure they know their address and phone number and other protective action, resolution of the problem can be advanced."

"If through our efforts one child is returned, we'd be overjoyed," said Lettich. "But our real goal is to educate parents and children about safety and to work toward a time when a program like this won't be necessary."

Woman runs from van; charge two

Two passersby reported seeing a woman run from a van that had struck a parked vehicle in front of a residence in the 2900 block of Rock Road at 4:15 a.m. April 27.

The woman, 30, ran into a dwelling there and a man also left the van, running across Rock Road into the West Granite baseball park, the witnesses said.

Officers responding to the incident said William M. Krug, 28, of 2426 Dewey Ave. walked out of the park area with his hands up. Timothy H. Steffens, 29, of 1911 Grand Ave. was found inside the van, apparently unconscious.

Interviewed inside the home into which she had fled, the woman related details leading up to the collision on Rock Road, alleging she initially had been near a tavern at West 20th Street and Illinois Avenue. She said she was taken to the vicinity of an old cemetery in the unincorporated area.

She reported getting into the driver's seat of the van at that location and driving to Rock Road, where the collision with the parked auto occurred. The parked car is owned by a friend of the woman, reports said.

She was taken by the friend to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

Both Krug and Steffens were released April 28 pending further investigation. They reported April 30 to police headquarters, where both men were charged with battery and disorderly conduct. They were released on notices to appear at hearings.

Laser telephone calls for St. Clair County

Light conversation will soon become more than a figure of speech in St. Clair County. Before the end of this year, telephone calls will begin pulsing on a beam of light through miles of slender glass strands about 8-millimths of an inch thick.

Work is currently under way to connect Belleville, Collinsville, O'Fallon, Lebanon and Trenton with a 12-fiber optical cable that uses several beams of laser-generated light instead of electricity to transmit telephone calls. "We will use more than 340 fiber miles of lightweight cable to link the switching offices," said Joseph J. Bennett, Illinois Bell community relations manager.

Capt. Mitchell retires after 31 years with GC police force

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

A 31-year law enforcement career ended with little ceremony Tuesday when Capt. Harry Mitchell, chief of detectives in the Granite City Police Department, retired.

Mitchell, 55, a lifelong resident of Granite City, began in the department as a probationary patrolman Oct. 29, 1954.

In 1957, he was appointed as a motorcycle patrolman, a duty he says was his favorite.

"I was a young man and riding that motorcycle in the patrol division was really the job," Mitchell said.

He said he enjoyed the duties that went with the assignment — traffic, and accident enforcement.

He also enjoyed the uniform, which consisted of a short jacket fitted to the waist, riding pants, knee-high black boots and dark sunglasses.

Mitchell's stint in the motorcycle division lasted five years, after which he served as a parking meter patrolman, and in 1965 he became a detective.

In 1966, he was switched back to become sergeant of the patrol division, in 1974 he was promoted to lieutenant and in 1977 he was named captain.

He was moved again in 1982, to become service division captain, and in April 1983 he was named chief of detectives.

Mitchell received several commendations, including 1969 for the apprehension of two burglars, 1971 for the handling of an armed mental patient, 1975 from the Madison County Sheriff's Office for the investigation of a double homicide, and 1976 from the U.S. Secret Service for the recovery of counterfeit money.

Mitchell said the most devastating event he witnessed while working was the tornado that hit the Glenview residential subdivision in 1981.

"I've never seen such destruction come and go so fast," Mitchell said. "There were millions of dollars of property damage. It was kind of sad to see all of that destruction."

"I was really impressed by the cooperation displayed by the various agencies in this town to help get things cleaned up and under control."

During his career, Mitchell has inherited the nickname of "Dirty Harry," which he says stuck to him when the first Clint Eastwood movie about the fictional police officer came to the cinema.

Mitchell said the only connection between himself and "Dirty Harry," however, is that his name is Harry and he used to carry a 6-inch .357 magnum revolver.

Mitchell said he has enjoyed his career as a policeman, adding: "I have no misgivings about my career. I'm happy with what I've done — I've made a lot of good friends on and off the force."

Mitchell views his retirement as a time to relax and "take things easy" with his wife, Glenda.

"I plan to do a lot of fishing and a lot of eating," he said. "I wanted to retire while I am still young enough to do a few things."

Mitchell is the father of six children and has six grandchildren.

30-hour 'famine' slated tomorrow by groups at 1st Assembly of God

Thousands are dying of starvation or diseases related to malnutrition. While such a toll of misery and suffering gives many people a feeling of hopelessness, a group of Granite City youths has decided to do something specific about it.

Fifteen members of the First Assembly of God College and Career Group and Youth Alive Group will begin a "planned famine" on Friday, May 3. Pete Baker explained that the group will have a two-fold purpose in going without food for 30 hours.

"We plan for the people participating to stay together during the famine so that, while we share the experience of feeling hungry, we can also learn why hunger exists in the world, and what we can do about it," Baker said.

"Many factors contribute to hunger — lifestyles, population, the energy crisis and others. Through this shared experience, we will learn about them and discuss how we can be a part of the long-range solution."

The planned famine program also has a practical side. The young people will contribute $6 of their own money + $2 for each meal missed + to participate in the program. They'll seek out supporters throughout the Granite City area to contribute as well.

"Our goal is to raise enough to help several families or even an entire village for a month or longer," Baker said.

FAINT STREAKS trail the four parachutists.

The student body of Granite City High School, and the students from nearby Niedringhaus School, were witness to a parachuting demonstration Monday afternoon provided by the U.S. Army parachute demonstration team. Members of the 101st Airborne Division headquartered at Ft. Campbell, Ky., the team's visit to the school was arranged by the local Army recruiter. The team travels around the country as a public relations gesture of the Army and to help in recruiting young people into the Army.

Using a UH-1H "Huey" helicopter, a veteran of the Vietnam conflict and still a vital aircraft for the Army now, the demonstration team was flown to an altitude of about 10,000 feet for the jump. The large, dark green helicopter was practically undetectable by the crowd of students and teachers when the four parachutists exited the craft. A member of the team, acting as the ground crew for the demonstration, was in constant radio contact with the helicopter and told the crowd around him when the parachutists had jumped.

Seconds later, the streams of smoke trailing each man were the only things visible as the four were in free fall form for approximately 8,000 feet, before opening their rectangular parachutes. The smoke trails were made by colored smoke bombs strapped to the ankles of the men. Later it was explained that the men were traveling at a rate of 120 mph during the free fall portion of the jump, which lasted only four or five seconds.

The four easily landed in the pre-determined landing area to the applause and cheers of the students who crowded the field behind the high school buildings. The jumpers were quickly encircled by the inquisitive spectators, asking question after question about parachuting, how the team members are selected and other aspects about parachuting and the Army in general.

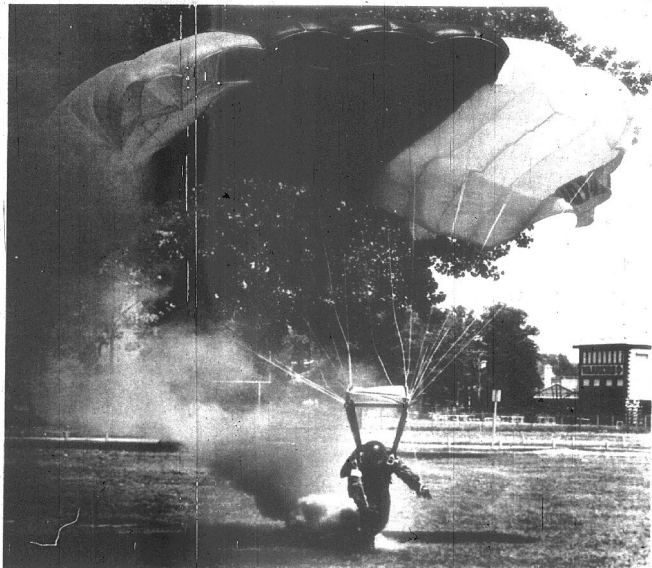

EYES ARE SKYWARD as the jumpers free, fall from 10,000 feet.

2-year pact for bus drivers approved

The Bi-State Development Agency board at a special meeting Tuesday approved a two-year labor agreement with Division 788 of the Amalgamated Transit Union.

The union, which represents about 1,550 bus operators, mechanics and servicing personnel, had approved the agreement in a membership vote April 28.

The new pact has an effective period of March 1, 1985, through Feb. 28, 1987, and seeks to balance wage increases with cost-saving changes in work rules.

Carl P. Mathias of Granite City, Bi-State board chairman, said, "We are pleased that this agreement has been reached in an expeditious and businesslike fashion. It shows clearly that good, hard collective bargaining still works to achieve mutual goals."

"The union leadership and the members are to be commended. The contract provides for modest improvements in pension, wages and life insurance. We are able to offer these improvements because, in return, we have eliminated some costly and outdated work rules."

Robert Bartlett, president of Division 788, said, "Considering the uncertainties of the present time + with big cuts proposed in federal funding for mass transit + we are satisfied with the agreement and pleased that we can now concentrate all of our efforts on providing the public with the best transportation possible."

Girls' Softball

Trojanettes better rival Venice for first win

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

MADISON — Madison High School softball coach Carol Cole is a perfectionist.

And when it comes to fast-pitch softball, a sport she's spent 20 years playing in college and various 2A leagues, there aren't many coaches who demand more of their athletes.

Through Tuesday afternoon's game with near-rival Venice, the Trojanettes had Cole on pins and needles, but Madison still pulled out a 5-2 victory, their first of the season.

Cole says she doesn't mind the errors that her squad committed. She says she really doesn't mind the mental errors either — like when a batter ignores a take-a-base sign when two baserunners are attempting a double steal. And, she says, she can live with the softball terminology that her squad so often incorrectly uses.

SHE CAN live with it all. She can live with it as long as the Trojanettes win. It's sort of a trade off with her. She gives a little and they win.

"It's so tough with these kids," Cole said. "Most of them haven't played fast-pitch softball before I got them. I think I've probably forgotten more (about softball) than I can teach them in a single season."

Then, after pausing for a moment and gathering another thought, she found reason for optimism in her team's inexperience.

"But I suppose there's a plus in that. I can teach them good techniques, before they learn bad habits."

IF THE Trojanettes have bad habits they sure kept them well hidden Tuesday.

The Trojanettes' etiquette was good enough to score five runs on six hits, three runs in the second and another pair to sixth to clinch the win.

"Hitting really hasn't been our problem," Cole said. "We've been scoring 12, 14 and 15 runs a game. What's been hurting is our fielding and our pitching. We've made some errors in the field and we just haven't been able to get the ball over the plate."

But hitting and fielding wasn't the problem Thursday. The Trojanettes committed just two miscues in the field — neither of which yielded a run. And as for pitching, Trojanette Alanna Browley balanced her efforts with an equal number of strikeouts and walks — three of each.

WHY THE sudden improvement in the Trojanettes' game? Cole had an answer for that.

"Any time Madison plays Venice

"Any time Madison plays Venice they're going to take the game more serious than normal. We were 0-5 coming in to today, and now that they've beat Venice, these girls don't care if they win another all season."

Carol Cole
Madison softball coach

they're going to take the game more serious than normal," Cole said. "We were 0-5 coming in to today, and now that they've beat Venice, these girls don't care if they win another all season. I hope we do (win again), but this made their season."

COLE, it was an important game and both teams wanted to win, but the girls don't have the rivalry like the boys do. It's more of a social thing for the girls.

With two victories in eight outings, the Red Devillets are, Everage said, a young team that has had some fortunate breaks.

"We've only got two seniors on the team — Rosie Harmon and Cassandra White — and the rest are juniors and sophomores. We're inexperienced."

"We're weak in the hitting department. We had a couple of good hits today, but we should've 'tatered' their pitcher today."

STILL, with their inexperience, the Devillets put up a good fight. With Harmon on the mound and White in left field, Venice gave the Trojanettes all they could handle.

Harmon struck out four and walked two. White, who is a scholar-athlete at Venice in addition to president of the senior class, made an eye-boggling, over-the-head catch in the third inning to halt a Trojanette rally.

"Those two are just super athletes and sixth graders," Everage said of Harmon and White. "Rosie's our do-everything athlete and Cassandra excels in everything she does. I wasn't worried for a moment that she (White) wouldn't make the catch."

MADISON'S three runs in the third came when Felicia Prothro reached on an error by Venice shortstop Chanty Bradley. Prothro stole second and then scored when Red Devillette catcher Lynn Burton's throw to second escaped into center field.

Browley was the second Trojanette to cross the plate. After reaching base with a single to center field and stealing second base, Browley scored when Abby Madgett tripled down the right field line.

Leading 2-0 at the time, Madison picked up its third run as Madgett scored on Kim Webb's fielder's choice.

VENICE narrowed the point spread to 3-1 and then 3-2 in the fourth and fifth innings.

Harmon reached on a walk, stole second base and advanced to third on the throw to second. Wendy King picked up a RBI when she slapped a single, easily scoring Harmon.

Venice picked up its second run in the fifth inning when Tina White reached on a single, stole second, advanced to third on an errant throw by Madgett and then caught the Trojanette's defense sleeping as she slipped in across the plate when Elizabeth Calhoun walked.

MADISON'S two insurance runs in the sixth came as Browley reached on a walk and stole second and third. Madgett, who reached on a dropped fly ball in the infield, stole second to put runners on second and third.

Ulanda Branch, the Trojanettes' sixth batter in the lineup, picked up two RBIs as she swatted a long fly

I GOT IT. Venice High School's Lynn Burton and pitcher Rosie Harmon meet at home plate for a high pop up during the second inning of Tuesday's Venice vs. Madison softball game. Burton caught caught the fly for the out, but missed running in to Harmon. Despite their efforts, the Red Devillets lost to their near rival 5-2. It was Madison's first win of the season.

ball to deep center field which scored both Browley and Madgett.

Venice got a little help in that inning from base umpire Kevin Kramer's watchful eye which caught Webb leaving the base too soon. Webb was called out for the infraction, essentially ending the Tro-janette rally.

Now 1-5, the Trojanettes will host Red Bud today at 4 p.m.

The Red Devillets, 2-6, are off until Monday when they travel to Worden to meet the Illini-Gateway Conference foe at 4 p.m.

Goes To Los Angeles

Greene, a former Warrior griddler, selected in pro draft

NEW YORK — Kevin Greene, a 1980 graduate of Granite City South, was picked the Los Angeles Rams in the National Football League's annual college draft Tuesday.

Greene, a linebacker from Auburn University, was the 113th player taken overall, and the first selected in the fifth round.

As a senior, Greene (6-3 1/2, 295) was a second team All-Southeastern Conference pick. He made the Tigers' squad as a walk-on.

WHILE AT South, Greene played two years on the varsity level at offensive end and at linebacker.

"Apparently he put on a lot of weight and became faster," said Stan Wojcik, who coached Greene at South.

Wojcik said Greene went from 6-foot 2-inches, 175 pounds in high school to his present weight. He also bettered his time in the 40-yard dash (from 6.1 to 4.5 seconds).

WOJCIK said when he was told of Greene's plans to make the Auburn team as a walk-on, he wasn't too surprised.

"He always had that type of determination to follow through," Wojcik said. "He always struck me as the kind of kid who did what he says he would."

Greene's father, a colonel in the Army, was stationed at the Granite City Army Installation when Greene attended South High School. The Greens now make their home in Alabama.

GRANITE CITY — The Warrior track team still has some work left to do before the upcoming conference and district meets later this month.

But, without that "big meet" pressure to bother them, the Warriors were able to flex their muscles a bit at the expense of Collinsville and St. Paul of Highland on Monday.

For the record, the Warrior boys soundly won the triangular meet with 107 points. Collinsville was only able to muster 41 points.

The girls' competition was much closer, but the Warriors' strength in the field events provided enough of a cushion for a 76-50 win.

St. Paul totalled 17 points in both divisions.

IN A meet like this one it's an opportunity to give everybody a chance to run and give everybody a good workout," said Warrior coach Dave McClain.

"You want to try and work on your time and get it up there so you can post good times (for districts) when you get on a fast track," McClain added.

While the cinder track at Granite City is a good one, the all-weather facilities in Belleville and Edwardsville are more conducive for quicker times.

"This is a quick track for cinders, but not like the other ones," McClain said.

THE WARRIOR boys took two of four relay events and got double victories from Scott Cant (110 high hurdles and 300 low hurdles) and Darren Bernaux (800 and 3,200 run).

Eric Graves was a triple winner, taking the long jump, triple jump and high jump.

Cant, coming off his fine effort of the Madison County meet, won both the hurdle events and is preparing for a showdown with East St. Louis in the upcoming Southwest Conference meet.

"I've got to work on my starts," he said. "That's where they are getting me. I'm catching them (runners) at the first hurdle but then starting to die at the end. I need to get in better shape."

Cant had a busy afternoon. He ran in both hurdle events, he high jumped and he ran the third leg of the 1,600 relay.

IN THE high jump, Graves is showing signs of returning to top form after a slow start. On Monday Graves jumped 6-foot 8-inches to win the event. Cant was second at 6-4.

"I'm starting to jump a little better," Graves said. "My dad has been working with me. We have been going out on weekends and just been jumping."

Graves took the long jump with a leap of 21-5. Pat Keeling was second (18-foot 9 1/2-inches). Graves also won the triple jump with an effort of 41-feet 9 1/2-inches.

In other field events, Evan Ellsworth won the shot put (44-feet 7-inches). Dan Lienemann was third (41-feet 2-inches).

In the pole vault, Granite's Rich Moore was first (12-6) Chris Lilley was fourth. Lienemann also won the discus (125-1).

BERNAUX and Doug Limbaugh (2:16.5 and 2:16.8, respectively) finished 1-2 in the 800. Limbaugh, Bob Shaw and Pat Griffith took 1-2-3 in the 400.

John Varadain won the 1,600 (5:04). Dave McCormick was second in the 200 (24.8). Dave Tatum took second in the 100 (12.0). Bernaux won the 3,200 (11:18) and Charlie Porter was second (11:20).

Because of the wide margin of the Warrior victory, McClain was able to experiment with certain people in some events.

"In a meet like this you can try people in places where you just want to get a time for them," McClain said. "In a real big meet you don't always have that luxury. You have to put them where you need them."

IN THE girls' division, Debbie Brandt won both the discus and shot put. The Warriors also got first place finishes from Lisa Wiser in the 400

(66.8); Loretta Cox in the high jump (4-10) and Marianne Finn in the 1,600 (6:09).

The boys will be at the Orphan Relays at Centralia this Saturday at 11 a.m.

'Unbeatable' Crusaders top Gray, Granite City hurlers

BELLEVILLE — The Granite City High baseball Warriors lost to an unbeatable opponent here Monday.

The Warriors faced a lineup comparable to the 1927 New York Yankees "Murderer's Row," a pitcher whose repertoire would turn Cy Young green with envy and a defense which fielded nine Ozzie Smiths.

The team that beat Granite City, 8-0, was the Althoff Crusaders, but the Warriors met an even bigger obstacle in efforts to secure their 15th victory of the season.

"WE JUST had one of those days," said Warrior coach Bob Stegemeyer, whose club fell to 14-9 with the defeat. "We didn't do anything right."

Alas, the universal "just one of those days" malady which normally spells doom visited Warriors' starting hurler Eric Gray. Gray was roughed up on a three-run homer by Joe Bauer in the first inning.

Gray hurled goose eggs the rest of his stretch. He was replaced after the fifth inning. The Crusaders tucked the contest securely into the victory column in the sixth inning with five runs off Warrior relievers Mark Bowen and Tim Stanton.

THE WARRIORS put runners on in every inning, but were unable to score off Mike Lanier, who pitched the distance.

The Warriors mustered four hits. The two biggest hits belonged to Matt Roe, who doubled in the fifth, and Shane Cole, who tripled in the sixth.

Cole's three-bagger, coupled with a walk with no outs in the seventh inning, represented the Warriors' best chance at scoring.

In all, the Warriors left seven runners on base. Two runners were thrown out attempting to steal.

"Apparently, we didn't come ready to play," said Stegemeyer.

GRAY, a blaze-bald throwing right-hander, wasn't at his strongest in the first inning. "He just didn't throw the ball with much velocity," said Stegemeyer.

Athletes vs. MS

Doing their best for MS

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

A news story appeared in one of the St. Louis dailies last week in which one authority discussed the "decline of America's youth."

"Today's young people just don't care," the article said.

"They have little or no idea about the world in which they live. They'd rather watch MTV and Billy Joel than World News Tonight and Peter Jennings. Kids today are lazy. They've had too many things given to them," the authority further stated.

The story went on and on about the alleged shortcomings of today's youth. It left a rather bleak outlook of today's young America's greatest resource.

Well folks, take heart. Things aren't as bad as some so-called experts on today's youth would like us to believe.

Why the optimism? We need not look any further than our own Granite City High School.

Competing in the third annual "Athletes vs. MS (Multiple Sclerosis)" contest, a group of 16 girls at the high school under the direction of former athletic director Roger Smith have collected $10,350 to benefit those afflicted with the crippling disease. The local girls, a varied and diversified group of athletes, cheerleaders, pom poms and statisticians for various varsity teams, have competed against other area Illinois and Missouri high schools to see who can raise the most money. The money raised goes for the Society's research, patient services, program services and support services.

Although the Warrior girls have yet to receive notice of how their efforts stack up against those of other schools, the unofficial word is that the $10,350 figure is the most that any school has turned in.

The most ever. In fact, when Smith took the check to the Gateway Multiple Sclerosis Society's office on Olive St. last week, the person accepting the check was "overwhelmed," Smith said. "She said they've never received this much from one school," an excited Smith said quoting the woman.

"We were all shocked when we learned they (Granite City) turned it that much money," said Tracy Kaempff, this year's Athletes vs. MS chairman. "It's an awful lot of money. An awful lot of money," Kaempff said.

In 1983, their first year, the local girls collected $1,153, good enough for eighth place. Lindbergh High of St. Louis won that year by collecting $3,796.

Last year, the girls collected $4,300 and that was enough for a third-place finish. Eureka High School went on to win last year by collecting $6,350. This year the Eureka High School group, which is led by coach Tom Russo, turned in $8,257.30, which is $2,000 less than that turned in by the group of Warriors.

Unofficially, the local girls still lead.

"I think the Eureka people were thinking they won again. I have to say, though, I had to tell Mr. Russo that Mr. Smith of Granite City turned in more. I felt like they (Eureka) should know before the dinner," Kaempff said.

The winning team will be announced at the Multiple Sclerosis Society's dinner on May 13 at the Busch Hospitality Room in the Busch Center on Pestalozzi in St. Louis.

In their quest to win this year's contest, the girls utilized numerous fund-raising tactics, everything from a benefit dance to roadblocks.

The dance, March 1 at Englebert Hall, was co-sponsored by Fr. Frank Kordak of St. Mary's Parish. The girls also received some help from the band Cinema, which played for free that night.

In addition to the dance, the girls canvassed persons at each of the city's banks and large chain grocery stores and collected in the home rooms of both the junior high and high schools. The roadblocks, set up at Nameoki and Fehling Roads, were for seven hours at a time.

Yep, quite an accomplishment.

And, it speaks pretty highly of these high school students.

Not only did they do this on Fridays, Saturday and Sundays, but they also gave up one of their teacher institute days to raise money. You remember those teacher institute days. The ones where the teachers spent the day in class and you got the day off. Well, while their classmates were enjoying the day off in their leisure, these girls were raising money for MS.

"Sure, you give up a little of your own time, but it's worth it. You do it to help the people who can't help themselves. Besides, it makes you feel good to help people, but that's not the reason you do it. You do it because you care," said Marce Schiller.

"There are a lot of things you can do with your spare time. Somethings will make you feel better than others, but nothing compares to how you feel about yourself when you help people like those who have MS," said Maria Longos, one of the four girls who have helped with the Athletes vs. MS program since it began.

"You also learn a lot about people," said Sue Lombardi, another three-year Athletes vs. MS'er. "It's funny some people will gladly give. They'll give you money and thank you for doing such a nice thing."

Then others, ones who you'd think would be willing to give, just ignore you and don't give a thing. It just goes to show that you can't judge people by appearance."

Indeed it does, Sue.

Just like so-called experts can't judge all young people by a few.

Just a few more things on Athletes vs. MS.

Smith wanted to publicly thank a few persons for their assistance.

First, Smith said, are the girls. "They've been great, giving up a lot of their own time to do something for those afflicted with MS."

Then Smith's list lengthened. He thanked the city for its cooperation in setting up the roadblocks. He wished to thank Norman Hall of the Illinois Power Company who provided orange vests for the girls so they could work the roadblocks. (A city ordinance requires persons to wear blaze orange vest when working such fund-raising roadblocks.)

Smith wished to thank the Rev. Kordak, the band Cinema and all those people who contributed.

"The only problem with publicly thanking people is I'm afraid I'm forgetting someone. I hope that's not the case. We're really grateful to everyone," Smith said.

Then after the group of girls disbanded, one of the girls, Marce Schiller, stepped up and offered one more thanks.

"We just want everyone to know how much Mr. Smith gave of himself. Without him we couldn't have raised nearly the money we did."

"He's really a good person. He kept all of us going," Schiller said.

ALL VS. MS. Their team consists of 16 persons with a similar cause, raising money to fight Multiple Sclerosis. Members of the team include (starting front left) Roger Smith, faculty adviser, Donna Kastelic, Maria Longos, Sue Lombardi and Laura Austin. All five in the front row have been on the team all of its three years. In the second row is Karen Buecker, Cherie Bosworth, Kelli Wilson, Chris Wright, Carolyn Smith, Cindi Schaffner, Stephanie Dill, Carlo Schutzenhofer, Jackie Linhart Sheila Hauptman and Marce Schiller. Team member Robin York is not pictured. The group raised $10,350 to fight MS.

Girls' Softball
Snakebitten? Warriors lose a heartbreaker to Shells 2-1

By GREGG OCHOA
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Yul Brynner, the barbaric ruler in the musical "King and I," once sang of the problems of being king in a song called "A Puzzlement."

If the Granite City High School girls' softball team was ever to make a music video of this season, that song would be most appropriate to play in the background.

The Warriors must scratching their heads and wondering what they did to deserve such rotten treatment in 1985.

"THEY SAY it's a game of inches," said Granite City Coach Jim Davis, "and I believe it. You can't really fault our girls because they played well."

Case in point, the Warriors dropped a tough 2-1 decision to Roxana Tuesday at Wilson Park in a non-conference game.

The Warriors wasted a strong pitching performance by Michelle Morgan, who pitched all seven innings giving up just five hits and striking out five.

The Warriors had several opportunities, leaving seven runners on base, but only managed a lead-off home run by second baseman Keri Holtcamp in the sixth inning.

"We've had a lot of baserunners in most of our losses, but something happens," Davis said. "At times we have hit the ball hard. Maybe pretty soon some of the breaks will start falling our way."

Trailing 2-1, the Warriors' last chance came in the seventh. With two outs, Anne Puhse coaxed a base on balls and went to second on a wild pitch by Shell pitcher Kristi Sheff.

THAT brought Holtcamp to the plate and Roxana Coach Bev Conway to the mound.

"We have a real fireballer," the Shells coach explained, "and at that point I was almost tempted to bring her in, just for the change of pace."

"I just reminded my pitcher of what she (Holtcamp) did the last time up, and asked her if she was getting tired," Conway said.

Sheff remained strong and got Holtcamp to bounce sharply back to the mound to end the game. She limited Granite City to just three hits and three walks through seven innings.

"WHEN YOU play as well as we did and lose, there is nothing bad that you can say," Davis said. "I don't know if maybe we are snakebitten."

Both pitchers had command of the game in the early going. Sheff allowed just two hits through the first five innings.

Granite City threatened in the fourth as Holtcamp drew a lead-off walk and Carol Riehardt singled her to third. The runners, however, were left stranded when Alicia Melton and Morgan hit consecutive soft liners to the shortstop.

Morgan, too, pitched out of two potentially dangerous situations. In the fifth, the Shells put runners on first and third with one out, but Morgan struck out Chris Mohr and got Krissy Vinyard to bounce out to shortstop Kathy Hutchings in end the inning.

The tournament, however, ended in THE fifth, Granite City got a couple of breaks but couldn't cash them in.

With one out, left fielder Kim Armour reached safely when Melinda Prater mishandled a slow roller at third. Hutchings moved the runner to second with a perfect sacrifice.

Puhse then hit a grounder to Prater who booted the ball, allowing to Armour to slide into third.

With Holtcamp batting, Sheff tossed a ball in the dirt that went to the screen and Armour raced home. However, the ball bounced right back to Shells' catcher Lisa Shaw who flipped to Sheff covering to tag out Armour.

"NO! DO you figure that," Davis mumbled. "If the ball doesn't bounce right back to her, it's a run."

"That was a real break," Conway said. "No question about it."

Roxana got all the runs they needed in the sixth inning. Sheff walked and Shaw tripled to left-center field. Tammy Barrett walked and a single by Amy Gray scored her.

Granite City then got lucky. When the Warriors mishandled the relay, Barrett tried to go to third as the ball bounced into foul territory.

However, Warrior catcher Karen Sykes, backing up the play, fired to Puhse who tagged Barrett out coming into third.

The loss drops the Warriors to 3-7. Roxana is now 5-6. Granite City will play the host Comanches in the first round of the Cahokia Invitational on Friday. Gametime is at 2 p.m.

Vianney Ousts Warriors

Soph tourney continues May 9

GRANITE CITY — The Warriors' sophomore baseball team was 1-1 last weekend in the annual Sophomore Baseball Tournament.

The tournament's final round was halted by rain and will be played Thursday, May 9. The title game will pit St. Louis Vianney High vs. Belleville West and begin at 4:30 p.m., following the conclusion of the consolation game.

Granite City won its opening round game 6-5 over St. Louis University High School.

Jay Valbert picked up the win for the Warriors, pitching five and two-thirds innings before giving way to Darin Hendrickson. He got the save in relief.

ON OFFENSE, the Warriors were aided by Valbert, Tim and Jamie Hogan and Charlie Collins each with two hits apiece.

The tournament, however, ended for Granite City when they dropped a 3-2 decision to Vianney.

A triple by Todd Hinterser accounted for the Warriors' only runs. Scott LaVault was tagged with the loss despite giving up just one earned run. Both the Golden Griffins runs came in the fifth and sixth innings. "After that he was quite good," said sophomore coach Greg Patton. "We made a couple of errors and left the bases loaded with the fifth and sixth inning and didn't score."

THE WARRIORS are 11-2. Their only other loss this season was to Belleville East.

"The two games that we have lost I felt we gave those away," Patton said. "It was because we haven't played up to our potential."

Patton added that the season has also been successful not only from the standpoint of wins and losses.

"This is a very good bunch of kids who seem to be learning and listening," Patton said. "That is especially important for this level and over the next two years."

Cinco de Mayo Fiesta to feature authentic costumes, dances

Folk dances and traditional Mexican food will highlight the annual "Cinco de Mayo Fiesta" sponsored by the Granite City Mexican Honorary Commission at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 4.

The public is invited to attend the celebration dance in the Nameoki Bingo Center, 17 Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

Music for general dancing will be presented by the Los Amigos Orchestra following the folk dance program. Tickets costing $3.50 for adults and $2 for children will be available at the door Saturday night.

The fiesta celebrates the victory of the Mexican people in the "Battle of Puebla." The battle was fought in 1862 and proved to be the major turning point in the revolutionary war to free Mexico.

David Mendoza will open the program by singing the national anthem of the United States and Mexico. Robert Robles Jr., a trustee of the MHC, will serve as master of ceremonies for the fiesta program.

MHC folk dancers will wear authentic costumes arranged by Rose Grimm. Under the direction of Cathy Moore and Vicki Stutch, they will perform the following authentic Mexican folk dances: El Rascapate, Los Machetes, Jarabe Zapoteca, The Basket Dance, La Botella — The Bottle Dance, La Bamba, Colas, Chiapanecas, El Que Sabe Sabe — Cha Cha, Jota Tapatia and the Jarabe Tapatio — the Mexican hat dance.

The dancers who will perform are Becky Antoff, Carlos Briegas, Marlene Briegas, Kevin Bridick, Sherrie Burris, Alma Castillo, Toby Condor, Eugene Cornwall, Cattie DeCourcy, Karen DeCourcy, Sara DeCourcy, Bill Delaney, Amy Donaldson, Wally Drennan, Camille Fensterman, Mike Garcia, Sara Garcia, Ray Greeve, Shannon Hoelter, Phillip Jaime, Tanya Jaime, Michelle Kientzie, Sheila Kientzie,

Jeff Koleff, Angie Kovach, Brandon Martinez, Nikki Martinez, Joe Martinez, Nona Mefford, Manuel Molina, Della Moore, Kaby Moore, Zeb Moore, Jose Pastoriza, Linda Pastoriza, Jose Penny, Anastasia Ray, Sherri Robles, Bob Robles Jr., Pam Simpson, Beth Ann Stutch, Emily Stutch, Vicki Stutch, Christina Terraza, Ramona Terrazas, Billy Tindall, Christopher Tindall, Salvador Toro, Andrea Valencia, Teri Valencia, Christie Wheatley and Michelle Wheatley. Community fiestas marking the

Cinco de Mayo celebration were inaugurated by the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City in the early 1920s to continue the national tradition observed throughout Mexico.

Initially, the celebrations were held at the Lincoln Place Community Center. As participation grew, the event was moved to the Venice-Madison American Legion Hall in Venice and later to the Mexican Honorary Commission's Hall at 1801 Spruce St. More recently, the fiesta has been held at the Nameoki Center.

Ministers here to spotlight disadvantaged of Central America

The Quad-Cities Ministerial Alliance is inviting all clergy in the area to a monthly meeting to be held at St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Monday, May 6, at 12 noon.

"We invite all interested persons sharing the spiritual leadership of our community to share this time with us," said the Rev. Linda Frew-Shugret, president of the Alliance. "This month's program will deal with the disadvantaged people of Central America."

"We feel that Christians should have a grasp of the new reformation that has begun in Central America."

It is at the heart of the turmoil in the political and social upheaval of the region," said the Rev. Don F. Pierson, spokesman for the Alliance.

"We will have a group of persons who have recently enjoyed a study tour of the area, telling their experiences and insights."

"There is a restructuring of a transformed church in Central and South America that is truly ecumenical. It includes Catholic, Pentecostal, and a wide range of Protestant churches. It is a new phenomenon of a church truly born of the people."

"Over the past 20 years, there has been a struggle to live out the Gospel with a new faithfulness," Pierson commented. "To a significant degree, the church is casting its lot with the poor and the dispossessed, with the poor, the privileged and powerful."

"This has nourished hope among the poor that God intends even the most obscure Christians to have life and have it abundantly, not only in a spiritual sense but in all dimensions of life."

"The evangelism of the church in Central America embraces the total life of believers."

"The Gospel is understood as being something in the present tense rather than a future salvation. This has resulted in a challenge from the poor believers to the structures of oppression that have kept them in desperate poverty for centuries."

"We believe that the devotion to the Gospel among the disadvantaged of Central America can challenge the complacency of the American church," added Shugret.

"We are hoping there will be a large turnout for this meeting. Persons are asked to go through the cafeteria line and take their lunch to Pius Hall. The program will get underway at 12:30."

They talked with church leaders, including the Roman Catholic hierarchy and Protestant leaders, plus government officials, Embassy officials, farmers, professors, refugees and people in business.

"Only with an adequate historical background can the political, social, economic and religious struggles be understood," explained a member of the group. "As Christians, we are under obligation to understand those who have been victims of oppression," she added.

Nameoki budget up $31,788

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

Nameoki Township officials are proposing a $443,433 budget for the 1985-86 fiscal year, which began March 1 and ends Feb. 28, 1986. The proposed total is $31,788 more than last year's budget. Final approval is expected during the Nameoki Town Board of Trustees meeting May 28.

NAMEOKI TOWNSHIP Supervisor Harry Briggs said the budget increase is not based on property value increases. "We're hoping so (broadening of the real estate tax base), but I doubt it very much. But, in order to expend money, we have to budget it."

The tentative budget anticipates revenues and expenditures of $235,642 in the general town fund, $113,791 in the general assistance fund, $66,000 in the general revenue sharing fund and $28,000 in the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund. Appropriations include $83,700 for salaries within the administrative division of the town fund. That includes the salaries of elected township officials. Last year, $64,442 was budgeted for salaries.

ANOTHER $3,000 has been earmarked for convention expenses, an increase of $2,100 over last year.

Trustee Helen Hawkins has argued against convention expenses in the past, but Briggs said he decided to restore appropriations for such expenses.

"They (township trustees) want to go to conventions," he said. "I've got three new ones going to a seminar next month for newly-elected officials."

A total of $192,174 has been appropriated for the administration division of the general town fund, up $7,898. In the assessor division, $32,300 has been budgeted, up $4,450.

BUDGET ITEMS totaling $6,168 for the collector's division have increased by $3,849. Much of that is due to an increase of $3,568 for the deputy collector's salary.

Briggs said the township expects to spend more for tax collection this year because tax bills are being mailed earlier. Last year, the tax bills weren't mailed until September.

"Norm Hall (former Nameoki tax collector) always had his wife work for him for nothing, and he had some part-time help," Briggs explained. "He didn't collect as long as we anticipate now. The tax bills are supposed to be out in May, so we had to allow for the help. He (Collector Steve Isenburg) may not need half of that, but he'll have to collect for three months, and we must have the money there."

IN THE GENERAL assistance fund, township officials expect to spend $31,591 for the administrative division and $81,700 for the home relief division.

The federal revenue sharing fund, down $4,859 from last year, will be used to finance such items as health programs, social programs for the aged, ambulance service, the Senior Aides program, a toll-free number to the Madison County Sheriff's Department and street light rental.

In addition, $24,000 is being transferred to the road district budget for environmental clean-up services.

FOOD BOXES. A special selection of foods to be distributed to area needy families is prepared by members of the Women's Auxiliary of Knights of Columbus Council 1098. Shown with the gift items are, from the left, Laura Bronnbauer, Kathy Burdge and Karen Miosky.

EXPERT APPRAISING
MORRIS REALTY CO.

Announcing selected rate changes that won't affect the price of basic telephone service.

Effective April 30, Illinois Bell introduced changes in the rates of selected telephone services. The Illinois Commerce Commission granted Illinois Bell's request for additional revenue to replace and modernize equipment, bringing its customers the service advantages and cost savings of new technology. The increases, such as the introduction of a late payment charge and revisions in the directory assistance calling plan, will not increase the price of basic local service. Instead, the new rates reflect our efforts to charge customers for the cost of the services they use. We believe this is the fairest way to do business.

LATE PAYMENT CHARGE

A late payment service charge of 1.5% a month will be charged on the unpaid balance of a bill not paid by its due date. This is the same rate used by other Illinois utilities, including many telephone companies. The late payment charge is also applied to charges Illinois Bell, as billing agent, collects for services provided by Western Union, AT&T Communications and other long distance companies. The company will waive the charge once during a calendar year for residential customers and it will not apply to any portion of the bill disputed by a customer until after the dispute has been resolved.

NON-SUFFICIENT FUNDS CHECK FEE

The new fee for a check returned for non-sufficient funds is $10.00, up from $5.00.

DIRECTORY ASSISTANCE CALLING PLAN CHANGES

The two-call directory assistance allowance for business and residence customers has been eliminated. The charge for directory assistance calls remains at 30 cents per call. Directory assistance calls from hotels, motels, and hospitals are now billed. Calls to directory assistance from blind or disabled customers, as well as calls from public telephones, will continue to be exempt from charges.

Previously, directory assistance service cost Illinois Bell $12.5 million more annually than it received in payments. That additional cost was spread among all customers even though about 1.5 million of our 3.5 million customers don't use directory assistance during a month's time. With this new plan, customers calling directory assistance will be the ones paying more to offset the cost of the service.

NAME AND ADDRESS CHARGE

Chicago Metropolitan Area Name and Address Service is a reverse directory assistance service through which callers can obtain the name and address for listed telephone numbers. The new charge is 35 cents per call.

RESIDENCE CUSTOM CALLING SERVICES

There are changes in the residence rates for Custom Calling Services:

	Old	New
Call Waiting	$2.52	$3.00
Call Forwarding	$2.52	$2.50
Threeway Calling	$2.52	$2.50
Speed Calling
8 numbers	$2.52	$2.50
30 numbers	$4.85	$5.00

Residence customers who choose a three-feature package receive a $1.50 discount and a $3.00 discount for the four-feature package.

There are no changes in the business rates for Custom Calling Services.

SERVICE CONNECTION CHARGES

There are increases in service ordering, line connection and restoration of service charges. The service order charge to establish service for residence customers will go from $28.00 to $34.50 and the charge for business customers will increase to $64.00 from $54.00. The new line connection charge for both business and residence customers is $20.50, up from $16.50. Increases in these charges have no effect on present customers, unless they relocate within the company's territory.

Customers whose service has been temporarily interrupted for non-payment will be charged $12.40 to restore service. This is an increase from the previous charge of $7.75, making these customers bear more of the cost of restoring service.

INSTALLMENT BILLING

Customers may spread payment of service order, line connection and other non-recurring charges over any time period up to 12 months, with an installment billing charge of 1.5% a month on the unpaid balance. (All rates are before taxes.)

Arrests add $32,587 in fines to Venice coffers

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

A total of $32,587 in fines collected and returned to the City of Venice between April 1984 and March 1985 appears to represent the most money ever received by Venice from the Madison County Circuit Court in a 12-month period.

Police Chief Farris Smith submitted a year-end report on the number of arrests, and the amount of fines returned to the city treasury, at Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council.

1st Ward Alderman John Fleig congratulated the police chief and members of the department, saying, "That's a big increase in the amount of money we've received and in all other categories in the report."

"It shows a big improvement over last year in fines collected," Fleig stressed.

The amount returned to Venice in the 12 months ending in March 1984 was $20,557.

In 1982-83, a total of $22,275 was received by the city from Circuit Court Clerk Willard "Butch" Portell, and the funds returned in 1981-82 amounted to $10,501.

Within the past 12 months, there were 848 men and 283 women arrested on a total of 1,340 charges, including 682 city traffic violations, 218 city ordinance violations, 169 state traffic and 112 state ordinance violations.

There were eight felony arrests and 55 arrests on warrants; 27 people were taken into custody for investigation and later were released. Nine persons were arrested in Venice for other departments.

Juvenile charges mostly consisted of city ordinance violations, which numbered 26. However, 18 felony cases were referred to the juvenile court, and 14 state ordinance violations also were directed to that court.

2nd Ward Alderman Hank Svezia reported receiving several complaints from residents about young people out late at night.

Svezia asked if the council could revive its earlier deliberations pertaining to a stronger curfew law.

Responding quickly, Mayor Tyrone Echols said, "We will be dealing with that. We are getting some vibrations about some gang (activity) here. We are going to have to resort to doing something about it. Maybe, like fining the parents," he said.

Last year, the aldermen previewed an East St. Louis ordinance which dealt with curfew restrictions and the subsequent responsibilities placed on parents or guardians.

Also urging some type of action be taken soon, 4th Ward Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. said, "With summer coming, it's going to get tougher when we get an influx of students on the streets."

"There already is a drinking problem on Weaver Street near Jackson Street. People are sitting on the side of the street in cars and disposing of bottles on the sidewalks and road," Valentine said.

He asked Chief Smith if police officers could "take an extra look at those sitting in vehicles drinking."

"I can understand people standing on the street, but not drinking on the street. And I've seen them drinking and smoking pot," he alleged.

"Residents deserve a little more consideration and we need to address this problem now."

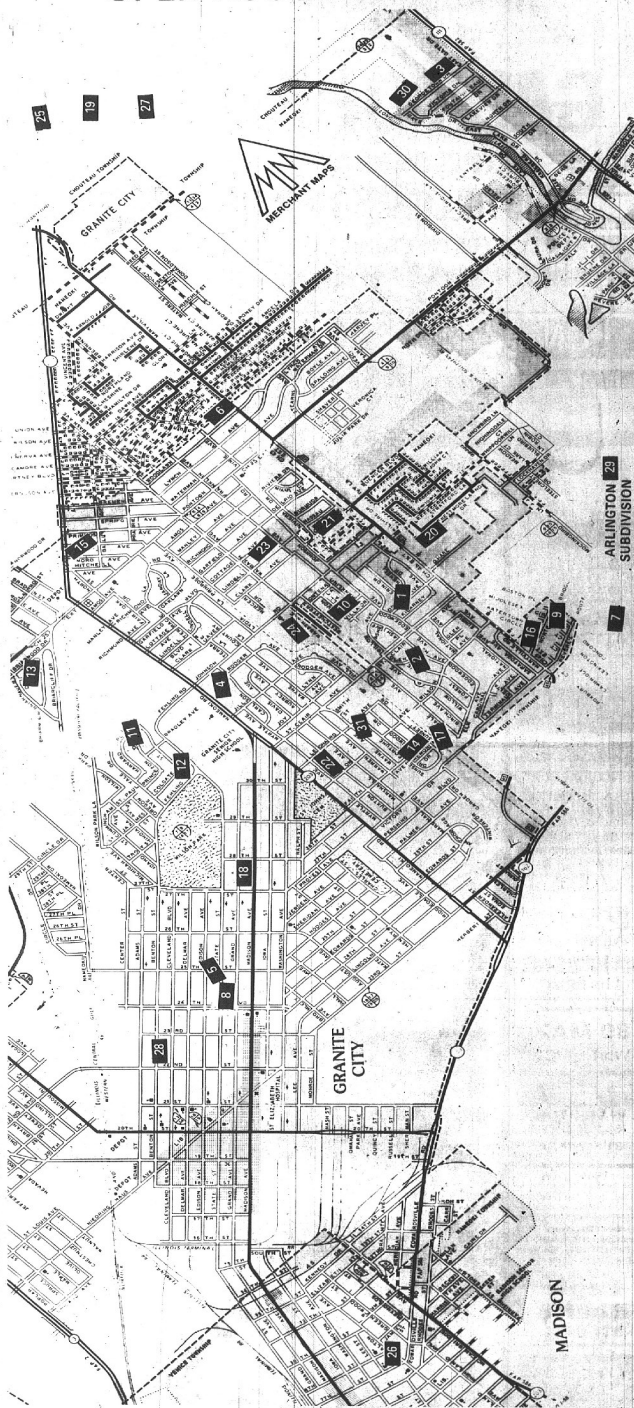

"We will work on it," Smith responded.

Some doubt on whether the problem can be resolved without officers walking a beat was expressed by 4th Ward Alderman Charles Haynes. "Unless you have a beat patrol, I think it's going to continue," Haynes said.

Valentine also complained of motorcycleists "gearing down and running stop signs in the area. Usually, it's one individual," he added.

"Yes, I think we got him today," the police chief said.

Coke sweetens market for corn growers

Coca-Cola's announcement it will use a new formula has brought good news to the Illinois Corn Marketing Board.

Coca-Cola's formula already contained 100 percent HFCS-55 (high fructose corn syrup) requiring almost 2 billion pounds of HFCS annually (61 million bushels of corn). How will the new formula differ? It will have about 4.5 percent more sweetener in the big-selling soft drink.

Gerald Carney, ICMB chairman and a farmer from Macoupin County, said, "This increase will require an additional 2.7 million bushels of corn. Coca-Cola's decision obviously shows that the fructose is a preferred product. We hope this will serve as an example for other soft drink manufacturers. Soon, we could be doubling and tripling that 2.7 million bushels."

Coca-Cola Co. has been testing its new formula for four years, gathering 200,000 opinions. In a blind taste test, 55 percent preferred the new Coca-Cola to the original. Once the product was identified as "New Coke" and tested with the original product, consumers preferred "New Coke" by 69 percent over the original. It is described as sweeter and smoother.

The new product is also supposed to have a better shelf-life, one of fructose's characteristics. Coca-Cola says it will be available throughout the U.S. by Memorial Day.

The ICMB collects and administers a quarter-cent per bushel corn checkoff in Illinois. It then disburses it to the areas of market development, research, information and education.

30-year prison term for abuse of child, 5

The maximum sentence of 36 years in prison was ordered Monday by Third Circuit Chief Criminal Court Judge Philip J. Rarick for Dane Chastain, 26, a Granite Cityan convicted of sexually abusing a 5-year-old girl.

Chastain was convicted in March of two counts of aggravated criminal sexual assault of the young daughter of a woman with whom he had resided until November 1984.

Calling the crime "lower than barbarian perversion," Rarick noted Chastain was convicted as a juvenile of aggravated battery, reduced from attempted murder.

Rarick cited a later probation violation related to a burglary attempt charge. Also mentioned was a burglary conviction.

"A substantial prison sentence is required, given the tender age of the victim in this case," the judge asserted while presiding in the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville. He ordered a 30-year term on each count but allowed the two terms to run concurrently.

Rarick said he will rule later on a motion for a new trial, filed by Attorney James Hackell. Urging the maximum sentence, Assistant State's Attorney Richard Rybak said the defendant had a history of drug abuse, with no regular employment, and had used his role as surrogate father to abuse the child.

Testimony at the jury trial indicated the girl and two other children had been physically abused for two years. Rybak said welfare money had been diverted to alcohol purchases.

Hackell proposed a six-year sentence, noting Chastain had many problems during his teenage years, but telling the judge that Chastain could be rehabilitated and re-educated.

The defendant said he was innocent of the charges. He said he may deserve to be punished for other past deeds but that he should not be locked up with murderers.

Chastain is expected to be required to serve half the sentence before becoming eligible for possible parole.

THREE ARRESTED SUNDAY

Three persons were arrested April 28 when police stopped a car at Madison and Niedringhaus avenues. Edward C. Haskins, 27, House Springs, Mo., was charged with possessing beer and was served a warrant alleging failure to appear on a DuPage County charge. His bail was set at $1002. Daniel R. Heintz, 25, Boise, Idaho, was charged with possessing beer and was released on $82 bail. Karlen Humphries, 21, Houston, Texas, was charged with transporting beer.

GC WARRANT IS SERVED

Mark Lee Brandon, 25, of 2124 Benton St. was arrested at Route 3 and West Pontoon Road by a Madison County sheriff's deputy April 28 on a Granite City warrant alleging criminal damage to property.

Instructor teaches basic life support

George Kroder, an instructor at Belleville Area College's (BAC) Granite City Center (GCC), teaches basic life support for emergency situations.

He teaches GCC's Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) course for those wanting certification as an emergency medical technician. EMT certification is also required for students wanting to go into paramedic programs.

Clay Baltman, BAC's associate dean of Allied Health and Public Service Programs and coordinator of the college's EMT Program, said first responders who take the course include ambulance drivers, police officers, firemen and security officers. The class is also taken by those who want to improve their life-saving techniques, including athletic trainers, nurses, miners, day-care workers, nursing-home and extended-care facility workers, emergency-room attendants, persons involved in plant safety in private industry and mothers.

Kroder said EMTs need to renew their training every two years to remain certified. The course is valuable to others as well, he said.

Housewives would benefit from the course, even though they don't have to keep their certificate current," he said. "They are trained in emergency childbirth and emergency action for poisonings."

"It's a good course for anyone who is working in a health-related area," he said.

"Before this program was developed by BAC's allied health personnel there was no formalized training for EMTs in this area. The program is certified by the National Registry of Emergency Medical Technicians."

Kroder, director of Collinsville's Emergency Services and Disaster Agency, was the coordinator of Emergency Medical Services (EMS) for the Illinois Department of Public Health from 1975 to 1982. He worked with all aspects of emergency medical services in that position.

He has a master's degree in safety from Central Missouri State in Warrensburg, Mo.

Baltman said the EMT course prepares students for the state and national certification exams.

"Our EMT course is designed to meet or exceed all state and national requirements for certification as an EMT," Baltman said.

The course consists of 96 hours of lecture and practical hands-on class work, in addition to 10 hours of observation in local hospital emergency rooms.

Class exercises include instructions in cardiopulmonary resuscitation, emergency childbirth, splinting, bandaging and treating individuals who have suffered from overexposure to heat or cold.

Students are furnished training equipment necessary to practice for emergency situations, Kroder said.

"We teach students the hazards of extricating accident victims from cars and buses," he said. "We have a day where we practice cutting up a car and removing people from the car. We have to cut the roof off the car and cut into the seats to remove the people."

They also simulate explosions in industrial buildings and mountain-climbing accidents, Baltman said.

"We actually put makeup on people to look like accident victims with wounds, fractures and bleeding," Baltman said. "We even change their skin color to a gray, ashen color to resemble a shock victim."

"These exercises are designed to help the student use their skills to size up the situation," he said. "Then they prepare the victim for first aid and for transport to a hospital."

Baltman said EMT instructors receive a lot of satisfaction from teaching the class.

"Those of us who teach EMT have only one pair of eyes, legs and arms," he said. "The real reward is when students come back and tell us of the lives they have saved. Then we feel there are 1,000 pairs of eyes, legs and arms helping others."

"Instructors get a lot of satisfaction knowing students have actually put their training to use," he said.

'Thieves' scheduled as SIUE Theater's season finale

"Thieves," a comedy by Herb Gardner, will conclude the current season of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Theater with a run May 9 to 12 in the communications building theater.

Opening night is Thursday, May 9, at 8:15 p.m., with additional performances at the same time on Friday and Saturday. There will be a final matinee performance on Sunday afternoon, May 12, at 2 p.m.

"Thieves" deals with the stresses on a young marriage in a contemporary urban setting, complete with the character types that inhabit big city streets. John Cange, Belleville, is Martin, the husband, and Monica Dickens, Florissant, Mo., plays Sally, the spouse, both trying to reconcile traditional ideals with the surge towards "upward mobility."

The married couple encounters Joe, a feisty cable played by Keith Shaw, Centralia, and a juvenile named Carlton who is ripping off everybody in sight, with Ricky Cubertson, St. Louis, in the role.

The main supporting characters include Jeff Harrison, Wood River, as The Man Above; Cheri Muschany, Sunset Hills, Mo., as Nancy; John Leonard, Mehlville, Mo., as Stanley; Rhett Rehg, St. Louis, as Gordon; and Katherine McCarty, Benton, as the Bag Lady.

Others in the cast are: Norris T. Light, Granite City; the Bum; Brad Light, Deerfield; Harry; Stephanie Strohman, Edwardsville, Flo; Kathie Williams, Roxana, Camille; Scott Evans, East St. Louis, Simmons, and Rami Karimpour, Eugene, Ore., as Devlin.

Parking is free behind the Communications Building at times of performances. Tickets are $4.50 for adults; $4 for seniors, Friends of Theater and Dance, and students at other institutions; $3.75 for SIUE students, faculty, staff and alumni, and $2.50 for children under 12.
